Max Data Services

Data simplified.

Data is the foundation that drives business decisions. With Max Data Services™ we aggregate, wrangle, and deliver your data so it is ready to consume for actionable insights. Our products work independently but also seamlessly together, providing the precise solution you need.

Products
EDA - Edge Data Aggregation
EDD - Edge Data Delivery
HFD - High Frequency Data
CDD - Could Data Delivery

It all starts at the edge. Built for the energy industry, our Max Edge device is ruggedized to withstand harsh environments and scales up or down for your specific needs. We can aggregate data from any source in 30 protocols, at frequencies up to 100 Hz, and with our universal translator, deliver that data in over 15 protocols.

When you need your data integrated into other visualization or enterprise applications, our cloud data delivery solutions provide easy, secure access with extensive options to deliver data behind your firewall or to a public or private cloud.

With 95 years of experience acquiring and delivering data across all industries, from the military to farming, we are proven and trusted to deliver the highest quality data, exactly how you need it.
